

Glenda and Dean's (or Michael to some) Mexican Vacation

Cozumel, Mexico

Glenda the Conquistador at San Gervasio (A Mayan Ruin)

The Bungalow

Glenda and Flamingos at the hotel

The Crab that burrowed through the bungalow roof. I did notice that crab was served at the next dinner.

Glenda & Dean at the hotel.

Glenda Kayaking at hotel beach. Conquistadors were known to burn their ships upon landing, so kayaking skills were very important.

Dean attempting to windsurf at hotel beach

Glenda & Dean at the hotel one evening

Glenda before the proposal. The site (white lighthouse) is shown behind her.

Glenda and Dean on the Lighthouse at Punta Sur moments before the proposal

Glenda on the lighthouse moments after the proposal. Is that smile forced?

Glenda at the shore outside the lighthouse. I think the cold wind of commitment just struck her.

Leaving the lighthouse.

Crocs outside the lighthouse. At least Glenda didn't feed Dean to them.

Mayan “Whistle house” outside the lighthouse. The sound of the wind through the structure told Mayan boaters where the shore was.

Glenda and her hippie braids. Not sure if she is becoming delirious or merely trying to chase him off.

Tulum. A Mayan Ruin on the Mainland. Glenda was here.

Tulum was the only walled Mayan city on the Caribbean. Didn't stop Glenda the Conquistador.

Xel-Ha. A place on the Mainland where three rivers meet the ocean.

Dean on the East Coast of Cozumel Isle. Some people don't appreciate the fashion statement. Cowboys aren't allowed to vacation anymore ☹️

Angel fish under the dock at the hotel. Dean took this photo after his first advance met with disaster.

Glenda & Dean on the boat going out to Palancar Reef for Snorkling. Look at that six pack! No wonder he asked her.

Glenda and one of the fish that decided to bite her while snorkeling.

Smart fish!?!

I noticed fish was served for dinner that night.

Coral at Palancar Reef

Grumpy looking fish.

THE END?
OR
THE BEGINNING???